

Bramham & Clifford Primary School

at the Millennium

Is our school a good place in which to work?

“In Key Stages 1 and 2 pupils have sound attitudes to learning. They are mostly compliant, listen attentively to their teachers and get on well with their work.”

“Pupils are usually well behaved in both playgrounds, in the environmental area and the dining hall. Pupils with special educational needs are fully integrated into the friendship groups.”

“Pupil’s personal development is satisfactory. Most are polite, well mannered, courteous and thoughtful. They know right behaviour from wrong and mostly obey the school rules. They look after school property well and there is no vandalism, litter or graffiti. Pupils are respectful and reverent during collective worship and they respect different opinions and cultural traditions from their own. Relationships are sound. Pupils mostly get on well with each other and establish trusting relationships with their class teachers and support assistants.”

“Pupils enjoy showing initiative and taking responsibility.”

Do we make the best use of the school environment?

“The extensive grassed area and hard surfaced areas, wildlife habitats and pond contribute effectively towards raising standards in physical education and science as well as providing an attractive environment for the pupils at playtime.”

In Early Years education “The playground is extremely well laid out for physical development. It has a mixture of hard and soft surfaces that can be negotiated by many types of wheeled toys.”

Bramham Primary School

“A school committed to high academic standards.”

OFSTED Inspection September 1999

“The strengths in teaching and learning, particularly in Art , Music and Physical Education have been successfully maintained and developed.”

“Pupils make speedy progress throughout their reception year.”

“In KS1 and KS2 pupils have sound attitudes to learning.”

“Pupils attainment at eleven , over the last three years, in English and Science has been well above the National average and above the average in Mathematics.”

“Sound financial planning is linked to need.”

“All funds are spent wisely.”

“Friendship groups abound and there is plenty for pupils to do outdoors to channel their energies.”

“No incident of anti -social behaviour was seen during the inspection period.”

“The school uses its community links well to enrich the curriculum and raise standards.”

What the school does well . . . (OFSTED)

- Pupils achieve good standards in English, Maths and Science.
- Provision for the under fives is a strength of the school.
- The curriculum is enriched by many relevant educational visits and special projects.
- Pupils receive a broad cultural education in music, dance and drama.
- The school grounds are well developed for play and learning.

“The unit costs per pupil are high and pupils’ attainment on entry is above average. When these factors are balanced against the sound quality of education provided, the attainment of pupils on leaving and their satisfactory personal development, the school provides satisfactory value for money.”
