Low Mills Farm, High St., Boston Spa

The northernmost part of the Bramham Parish , Low Mills Farm lies alongside the Beck , which forms the parish boundary up to the river Whark.Much older than its appearance on the 1817 map , it was long ago the site of a flax mill , though the 1848 first OD map indicates both corn and paper mills on the site. Records were lost in a fire at the Bramham Park Estate Office. Currently the farm is being worked by a third generation of the Umpleby family , Elizabeth [nee Umpleby] and Tim Clayton having taken over in 1998 from her parents , who moved next door to Orchard Cottage --- over the Beck and so into Boston Spa. The Umpleby stewardship began in 1929.
